FOREWORD

In presenting the theme for the 1950 Yearbook, the staff of the Blue and White has tried to follow the Classical Period in history and literature. The Graeco-Roman civilization was characterized by a perpetual search for Truth and Beauty. The Classical epoch in civilization left the world a heritage rich in knowledge and tradition. During our three short years at Classical High School we have attempted to place a finer set of values upon the principles with which we hope to conduct our future lives.

Throughout the 1950 Blue and White are allusions to Classical mythology as well as illustrations of Greek and Roman culture suggestive of patterns of activity here at Classical High School. Mt. Olympus was the dwelling place of the gods and goddesses who ruled mortal destinies in literature, music, art, drama, and sports. Classical High School has been our Mt. Olympus.

As the Greeks listened to a reading from Homer, so we students have listened to our teachers as they expounded the Pythagorean theorem or the power of steam or as they impressed upon us that our major task would be an attempt to hold the world together.

Like Mercury, our school publications the Recorder and Blue and White, have borne our messages. Our club activity has been for many of us as varied as a richly ornamented vase. Our girl athletes have enjoyed more success than Atalanta in her race with Hippomenes. The boys in 1950 are still as enthusiastic over tournaments as the classic torch bearers.

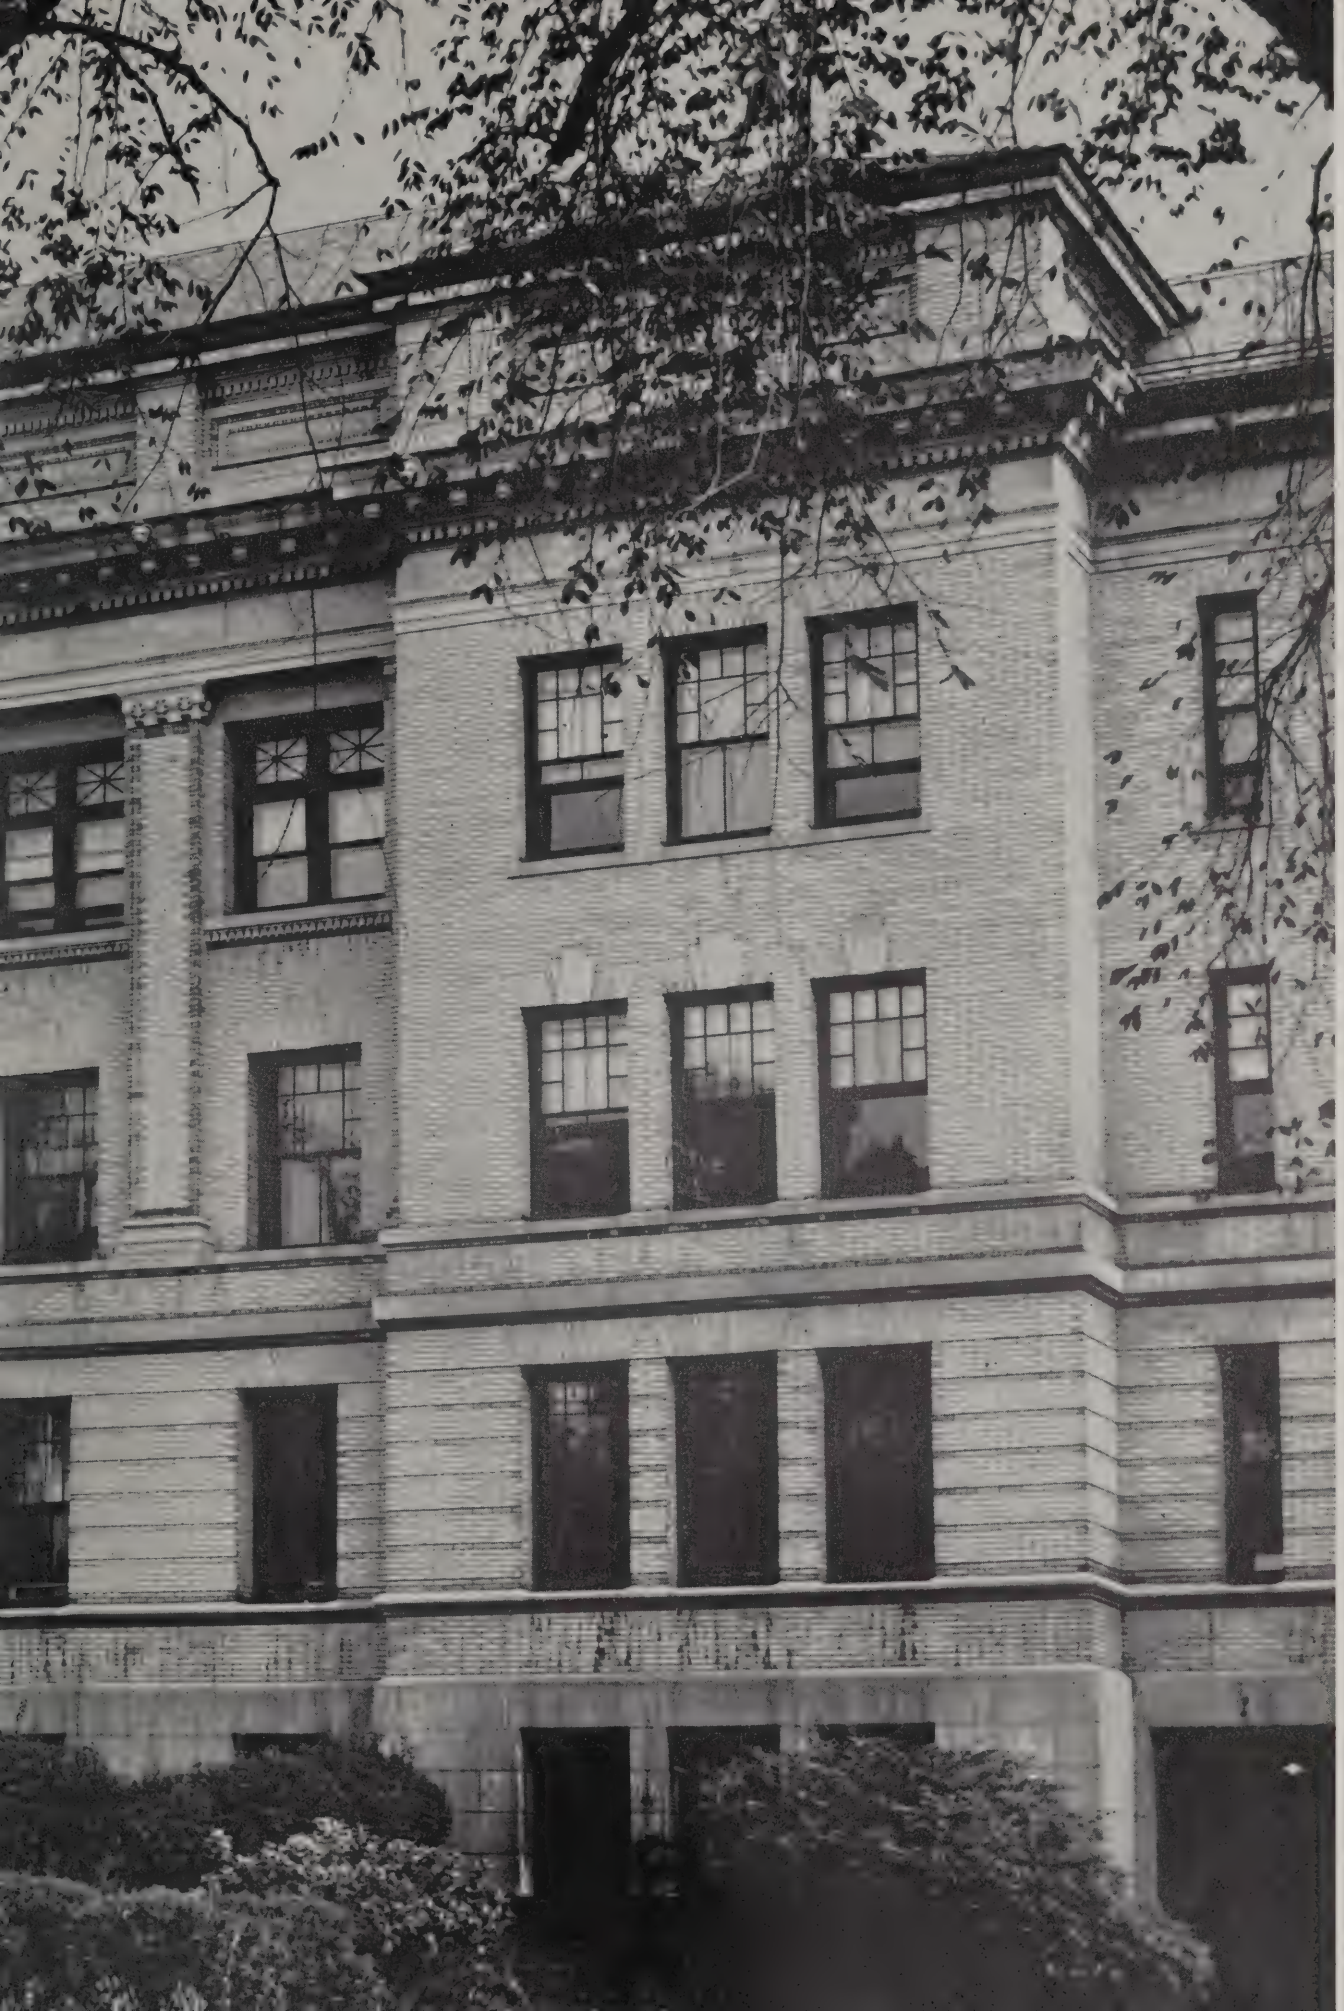

Some of "the glory that was Greece and the grandeur that was Rome" has been our heritage here at Classical High School.

DEDICATION

The wealth of knowledge and experience that we have gained are due to the untiring efforts of our teachers. Our future careers in life and our roles as American citizens will be the results of their patient and sincere indoctrination. In gratitude we dedicate the Blue and White of 1950 to the faculty of Classical High School.

CLARENCE I. CHATTO

Principal

The gods of Mount Olympus
Dwelt splendidly alone
And towering cliffs of stone.

The bright arch of the rainbow
They made their shining road
When down to earth they traveled
To walk where men abode.

Men dreamed their gods with wonder
And shaped them to their use:
The toil of dark Hephaestus,
The power of mighty Zeus,

The beauty of Apollo,
The pride of doughty Mars,
The wisdom of Athena
Clear shining as the stars.

Behind the misty centuries
The golden gods are dead,
But still the ancient virtues
Can stand us in good stead:

Wisdom and strength and courage
To meet the weary day,
Toil to build the future,
Beauty to light the way.

Clarence I. Chatto

MR. MARSH

Although Mr. Marsh was with us only a short time, his patience and sincerity made a favorable impression on all at Classical High School. Always willing to aid a student in need or trouble, he soon gained the reputation of an impartial and just assistant-principal.

MR. SWEENEY

A kind and understanding friend in every respect who is never too busy to say an encouraging word is Mr. Sweeney. Classical welcomes Mr. Philip Sweeney, our new vice-principal, and hopes he will enjoy his work here.

Mrs. Bemis with Karin Johnson [left] and Jean Cannon [right]

MRS. BEMIS

We owe much to Mrs. Bemis for the generous, abundant help she has given us in our three years at Classical. We are grateful too for the valuable suggestions she has offered so willingly in all our work. Tact and enthusiasm are two of the most outstanding characteristics of Mrs. Bemis. It has been a real privilege to enjoy her friendship.

MR. FINN

Mr. Finn is constantly in demand by many Classicalites for numerous requests of assistance and information. He may start the day by first straightening out a confused Freshman's program, then gently breaking the news of the B.U. Test to a Junior, and lastly advising a Senior on college preparation. On the lighter side, Mr. Finn attends Classical's sport games as an official representative of our school.

Mr. Finn and Adele Nalepa

Miss Elizabeth Stone and Miss Margaret Footman take care of the numerous records for Classical High School students.

Miss Ethel Johnson gets out that important daily bulletin.

Miss Evelyn Lucas is just getting her breath after having answered numerous telephone calls in the course of a busy morning.

THE CLASS OF 1950

The outstanding achievements of the class of 1950 in scholarship, athletics, and extracurricular activities are shown elsewhere in this yearbook. The future will demonstrate the records our graduates will make in college and later life. Although we regret that we must end our three years at Classical, we look forward to making our mark in the world with the aid of the experience gained here.

FRESHMAN YEAR

On September 9, 1947, about 250 nervous freshmen climbed with effort the State Street hill to claim our stations at Classical High School. We were all strangers then, but as we looked at each other in the special assembly hall, we somehow knew that we would all be the best of friends before the end of our three years.

We began our year under the adviserships of Miss Kelley, Mrs. Flanagan, and Mr. Oliver by electing Richard Brown, president; William Hobbs, vice-president; Lois Dietch, secretary; Lee Quimby, treasurer; and Rudolph Cutler, member-at-large for our class officers.

We had been in school only a few months when we knew that our freshman year would go down in Classical history as a progressive one. For the first time at our school, driving lessons were started, student-controlled study halls were set up by Student Government, and the Pro Merito Honor Society was established. We were on our way.

Christmas time proved to be the season for presentations. Under the direction of Mr. Anthony Raisis, our Glee Club gave the annual Christmas concert at the Auditorium. We were full of anticipation and excitement as we marched side by side to the Auditorium in the traditional procession. Not to be outdone, the Drama Class presented "Bird's Christmas Carol," under the direction of Miss Dorothy Savoit, and the G.A.A. sponsored a Christmas dance.

It was on March 13, 1948, however, that we experienced our biggest thrill of the year. After winning the City Basketball Championship, our Bulldogs dribbled on to claim the title of Western Massachusetts Basketball Championship.

As the days became warmer and the sunshine plentiful, so the hearts of Classicalites became lighter, for summer vacation was not far away. The last big productions of the year were given. The band, under the direction of Mr. Stanley Woujick, presented "Musical Flirtations"; the Drama Class presented "Pride and Prejudice"; and the Glee Club presented the colorful operetta, "The Pirates of Penzance" starring Jerry Millette, Ronny Maxwell, and Nancy Clarke.

Our always-to-be-remembered freshman year came to a close with the last event of the year, the freshman prom, "Spring Fling", which was held in the gym on May 7, 1948.

JUNIOR YEAR

Once more on September 8, we climbed State Street hill, less aimlessly this trip, to view with curiosity the new recruits. We began our junior year under the leadership of our president, Ronny Murray; vice-president, William Hobbs; secretary, Connie Szczebak; treasurer, Dick Melville; and member-at-large, Sidney Kittredge. The well known faculty members, Miss Anthony, Miss Murphy, and Mr. Rosenberg had resigned, and their places were filled by Miss Dean, Miss Parkman, Miss Auger, Mr. Best, and Mr. Francis.

The annual B.U. tests took place in October. The month was not complete, however, until the "Blue and White" and "Recorder" each received a W.M.L.S.P. cup for the excellence of their publications. The first meeting of the year of the P.T.S.A. was highlighted by the use of the newly installed public address system presented to the school through the efforts of this organization.

The festive holiday season was ushered in by the presentation of the play, "Christmas Trimmings"

with Martha Okun representing our class. The traditional holiday concert at the Auditorium plus the G.A.A. Christmas Dance climaxed the 1948 activities at Classical.

"Taming of Eve" presented in January by the Drama Club starred many of our talented juniors including Martha Okun, Dick Melville, and Ronny Murray.

In April, two events of magnitude took place. The first was the concert "Dittingen Te Deum." The second was "Jane Eyre", a play that will long be remembered by those who attended this excellent presentation.

Our Junior Prom, the "Coronation Ball" was held at the Hotel Kimball on May 2 with Johnny Roger's band furnishing the music. From a bevy of previously selected beauties, Judy Hespelt won the honors and was crowned Queen of the Ball.

Thus we came to the end of our junior year and as we parted for another vacation we realized that the next time we returned we would be seniors, and felt that many of the most glorious times which would add much to our history, were yet to come.

SENIOR YEAR

With confidence this year we hurried up State Street to see if the old crowd were back. Now we were "gods of all we surveyed." The honor of being seniors was ours at last. Our officers for this year were Sam Shaw, president; Nancy Cooke, vice-president; Connie Szczebak, secretary; Dick Melville, treasurer; and Jean Easton, member-at-large. Missing from the ranks of the teaching staff were Mrs. Gaylord, Mr. Jackson, Mr. Raisis, Mr. Francis, and Mr. Best. They were replaced by Miss Marston, Mr. Pease, Mr. Amerman, and Mr. Marsh.

At the annual W.M.L.S.P. convention held at the University of Massachusetts during October, Classical's "Blue and White" gained possession of the W.M.L.S.P. cup for the third time.

The play, "Pop Reads the Christmas Carol," presented under the direction of Miss Sauer, and the annual Christmas concert, presented under the direction of Mr. Amerman, were our two successful Christmas productions. During the winter months that followed, the Drama Club also presented "Who Gets the Car Tonight," "Elmer," and "Orchids for Margaret," starring many of our talented seniors.

The forming of various senior committees occupied the time and thought of many of our class during the winter months. Then too, we began seriously thinking about college aptitude and achievement tests.

The annual play, "Little Women," presented on May 26 and 27, starred Sally Reisner [Meg], Mary Donovan [Beth], Martha Okun [Amy], Jack Surprenant [Father], and Dick Melville [Professor Baehr], and the annual spring concert, "I Hear America Singing," presented on May 12, climaxed the end of a successful year of school presentations. Our Prom on June 2, banquet on June 9, and graduation on June 13 will be long remembered by the Class of 1950.

We have conquered and now in retrospect see our instructors in a different light. It is they to whom we must now turn and thank for their diligent prodding toward our goal. May we work out the dreams we have visioned here, and make Classical proud that she has given us so much.

MORGAN POTTS, Chairman

THE WILL OF THE CLASS OF 1950

Now that we, the Gods and Goddesses of tomorrow, have completed our high school life, we are about to step from the clouds of our Olympus into the open space of the world of mortals. No matter how rockey the road as we forge our way through life, the heavenly memory of Classical High School will live close to our hearts. In order that the memory of us, the class of the half century, will live on in the minds of our teachers and of the mere mortals who follow in our footsteps, we do hereby bequeath and bequest the following:

Alpha — To our Principal Mr. Chatto, we leave our heartfelt gratitude for his earnest efforts in our behalf and for his devotion to our welfare and success.

Beta — To Miss Sauer, we leave the authority to expel at will all those impudent pups.

Gamma — The Boys' Patrol leaves a year's supply of grease remover to Mr. Ressler.

Zeta — The gasping class of '50 leaves one set of gas masks to all those brave souls who dare to take chemistry in room 321.

Mu — Richard Hirschhorn leaves his book entitled "How To Influence the Sages."

Xi — Judy Hespelt leaves her enchanting love life to Betty Marshall.

Pi — Barbara Albert giggles out as she came in.

Rho — Kitty Curtis leaves a pair of brand new roller skates to the Goddesses of next year, with the hope that they will get to classes earlier than she did.

Tau — Vivian Silvestri leaves her shining scholastic ability to Jimmy Axtell.

Upsilon — Dick "Swifty" Stimets leaves jet-propelled.

Phi — To the baseball fans, we leave television sets for the study halls.

Chi — Sandra Averill leaves her good nature and quiet humor to Betty Brusnicki.

Omega — Sy Elinsky, Marty Kelly, Bob Spears, and Bill O'Neil leave!!!!

WHITHER THE CLASS OF 1950?

Fame, glory, and honor are accorded those prophets whose predictions time has verified. From the Oracle at Delphi in Ancient Greece through the ages, there periodically arise people whose mysterious powers hold for them the key to the future.

Man's curiosity as to what the future will bring to him has never been satiated. Even the class of 1950 cannot graduate but with the secret desire to know what we shall be doing in twenty years, where we shall be living, or what degree of success we shall have attained.

How many times when we were little did we dream of becoming a fireman or a policeman? How many times have we played the ditty:

"Rich man, poor man,
Begger man, thief,
Doctor, lawyer,
Indian chief?"

In those days, the idea of future career could be seen only faintly in the distance. Today we are older and the situation has become a reality. With the receiving of a diploma, childhood days have ended and it is with a mixed feeling of regret and solemn pride that we start forward on the next step of our future career, be it college or a vocation.

Years ago, a person in doubt about the future would consult an oracle, accepting the prediction as inevitable and divinely inspired. Today, the ultimate measure of success is determined solely by perseverance, ambition, and personal integrity.

The graduation of the Class of 1950 is a milestone in the history of Classical High School. The year 1950 marks the turn of the twentieth century. We have a great deal for which to be thankful. We have to continue our life career.

Some of us will become doctors, lawyers, and perhaps even firemen and policemen. We may have in our class future judges, statesmen, and even a President for opportunity is unlimited. The jobs of bank officer, department store manager, corporation executive, general, mining engineer, radio technician, teacher, social welfare worker, nurse, doctor, architect, inventor, diplomat, restaurant owner, salesman, actress, dietician, writer, secretary, housewife and many others may be filled by members of our class.

But above all, we will graduate as American citizens, conscious of the roles we will play in the development of our country and the world. God willing, may each one of us realize his dream of a successful career.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Outstanding ability in the field of scholarship, contribution to useful extra-curricular activities and a fine spirit of cooperation are the notable achievements of the Class of 1951. Looking ahead to their senior year, the junior class will strive to be worthy of the Classical tradition. The leaders of the class and all its members confidently share the belief that the Class of 1951 will make its mark in Classical High School and in the community after graduation.

JUNIOR PROMENADE 1949

FANCY FOOTWORK

WHAT, NOT WATCHING US?

MR. CHATTO PLACES THE CROWN
ON PROM QUEEN JUDITH HESPELT.

TETE-A-TETE

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE?

PUBLICATIONS

Principal Clarence I. Chatto, Classical High School, admires cake, commemorating 20th Anniversary of W.M.L.S.P. which he founded.

FALL CONVENTION W.M.L.S.P.

Classical High School was honored in several respects at the fall convention of the W.M.L.S.P. held at the University of Massachusetts. At this conference, the league celebrated its twentieth birthday. Our yearbook won the award for excellence in its class. But Classical High School took most pride in its principal, Mr. Chatto, founder of the League.

In an editorial in the Springfield Union for December 10, 1949, recognition was given Mr. Chatto for his leadership in the promotion of high school journalism. Through the courtesy of the Springfield Union we quote that editorial:

SCHOOL PUBLICATIONS

"The 20th anniversary year of the Western Massachusetts League of School Publications should not pass without a tribute to Clarence Chatto, Principal of Classical High School, founder of the organization, and the first chairman of its advisory board.

"Some 35 high schools in this area today constitute the league and nearly 300 delegates attended its annual convention at the University of Massachusetts recently. When Mr. Chatto and others gathered in Springfield in 1929 to found this Western Massachusetts journalistic league, the present members were not yet born.

"Those who were its original members have moved along to journalistic, educational, and professional heights. Early members are on the editorial staffs of Springfield and other dailies throughout the country. Today's members, too, will be the nucleus of future newspaper staffs.

"Our anniversary greetings to Mr. Chatto and through him to all the other past and present faculty advisers to the W.M.L.S.P., to the staffs of our Western Massachusetts high school newspapers, yearbooks and literary magazines, and to our University of Massachusetts for providing today a vital educational service."

BLUE AND WHITE

Ushered into room 122, the visitor immediately sensed the informal business-like atmosphere. For this was 122, the sanctum sanctorum of the Blue and White. The first thing our visitor noticed was the new equipment in the room, full-fledged desks recently inherited from Commerce High School. Expecting to find tomb-like silence in so severe an establishment, the visitor was rudely surprised to find sufficient noise to indicate the presence of life in the room.

The sound of "I pass", "Blackjack!!" coming from the rear of the room shocked the guest who was hurriedly reminded that those staff members "bring home the bacon" in the form of sorely-needed advertising dollars. Practicing the subtle arts of the rubber hose and the rack, Alan Shapiro, Eli Warsaw, David Marshall, Robert Golledge, and Andrew Georgaroudakis gently persuade eager advertisers to contribute over $400 a year to the Blue and White treasury.

Hearing what sounded like "African termites lost in a tom-tom," our guest moved in the direction of one of our expert typists who was racing along madly on one pinky. He was introduced to the young woman, Barbara O'Conner, who was surprised when he bent to kiss her hand. "Enchante," he softly murmured over the 1808 Remington.

Continuing his tour of 122, the guest arrived at what seemed to be a round-table discussion among Richard Hirschhorn, editor of the Blue and White, George Brooks, the boys' sports editor, and Larry Zimmerman, the picture editor. They were discussing deadlines for write-ups. Richard was prophesying dire consequences for delinquents.

Turning around, the visitor was startled to see several Brinks' men with sawed-off shotguns, carefully guarding the two subscription editors, Morgan Potts and Frank Cerveny. The guest was informed that, for the convenience of the students, an installment plan was instituted for the first time this year. This system, along with the privilege of buying either a hard-covered or a soft-covered book had raised the sales until over 70% of the student body had subscribed to the 1950 issue.

Still haunted by memories of the horrifying scene he had witnessed only a few minutes before, the guest made the acquaintance of two filing cabinets —or rather their lovely "keepers", Adele Nalepa, Karin Johnson, and Mary Stearns. Regretfully leaving these three new friends, to whom was entrusted the important job of collecting piles of information and statistics, our guest found himself in the midst of a long line which was slowly moving forward. Being told that Lana Turner was not at the head of the line, our guest sadly put back his autograph book. He was pleasantly surprised, nevertheless, to find that the line led to the one and only Martha Okun, associate editor of the Blue and White. She was busy making picture appointments for the 258 members of the Senior Class.

Reluctantly taking leave of this charming acquaintance, the visitor met Miss Gladys Walling, the Girls' Sports editor. These two new friends had an absorbing conversation for several minutes on the respective merits of playing first-base or knitting argyl socks as an end in life for women.

Not being a very convincing debater, the guest resumed his stroll. Suddenly, he stopped! Could he believe his eyes? Could it be' There, sitting at a desk, smiling pleasantly at him, sat a person who was actually calm, peaceful, serene, tranquil. Hastening over to meet Miss Teresa Boylan, the Blue and White adviser, the guest felt that maybe now he would find out the truth about the Yearbook. He knew that at the fall convention of the Western Massachusetts League of School Publications, the Blue and White, for the third time, carried off the first prize for general excellence. He knew that the yearbook which the staff was now working on was the fifty-fourth issue dating all the way back to 1896 when it was published by a fraternity. How could this be? A madhouse turning out a book that is prized for years and years by former Classical students?

Seeing the expression on his puzzled countenance, Miss Boylan turned to him, sweetly saying, "My dear guest, you just don't know the Blue and White." And the guest politely agreed.

ACCOUNT OF RECORDER

Each year of publication for "The Classical Recorder" is a definite challenge to a young, somewhat inexperienced, but ambitious journalism staff which assumes the sixty-two year old reins. This is true because the Recorder has a distinguished heritage to live up to, a heritage which each successive staff has felt compelled to fulfill.

Since first published in 1887, the Recorder has continually been a servant of the students of the school; its complete file would prove a comprehensive early history of the students, some of whom became the foremost men and women in the community and others who attained even greater heights in the fields of public service and entertainment.

Throughout its sixty-two years, the Recorder has served a three-fold purpose; it has been a servant of the present, the past, and the future. In its contemporary service, the Recorder brings to the ever-growing body—news, constructive and entertaining feature, up-to-date sports information, and what it hopes are guiding editorials; in its service to the past, the Recorder endeavors to keep alive the tradition that has consistently made its school one of the most respected in America; in its service to the future, it is fulfilling the implication of its name, to record for "posterity" the events, great and small, that go into the keeping of what we now call the "Classical tradition."

But perhaps the Recorder has served even a greater purpose; perhaps it has lent something to the high school life which will make that life remembered even as life at college is remembered; perhaps it has helped to keep prevalent the fact that three years at Classical constitute a great deal more than an insignificant part of our lives, but rather that these years are a building block, which, when recognized as such, can be a guiding beacon for the future. No, we of the Class of 1950 do not recognize this fact now, perhaps it will always escape some of us, but those of us who may look back with a touch a reverence, gratitude—and nostalgia may finally fathom the real importance—the kind of greatness—of our years at Classical. If the Recorder has helped this great goal in any way, it has more than served its purpose.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS CONCERT

MUSIC AT CLASSICAL

The many musical organizations for which Classical High is noted have been extremely busy this year. The Glee Clubs and Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Warren Amerman presented the annual Christmas Concert at the Municipal Auditorium in December. Both the Glee Club and the Orchestra are to present an annual spring concert and will assist at the senior graduation in June, 1950.

The Girls' Choir, consisting of a few selected voices, sang for the Classical High P.T.S.A., and had a special part in the Christmas Concert. Another group of equal importance in our music group is the Madrigal Club. This group sang at the Wesson Memorial and Maternity Hospitals at Christmas time to cheer up some of the patients.

The Classical High School Band under the direction of Mr. Wougick took part in the Eastern States Exposition this year and took top honors. They also have added to the spirit of our football and basketball games during the past year.

DRAMA

Drama Class productions this year have included four one-act plays put on in assemblies. Try-outs were held in the classroom, voices recorded on the tape recorder, and stage business worked out in the assembly hall.

For the annual production at Trade School in May, "Little Women" was selected.

Two radio programs are in rehearsal.

In December, "Pop Reads The Christmas Carol" was presented with the following cast: Pop, Jim Anderson; Mary, Ellen Bloodworth; Mom, Jayne Crockett; Junior, Ray Kenney and Richard Miller; Jane, Mary Donivan; Paul, Bill Kenerson; Jack, Bill Blodgett.

A sequel to this incident in the Jones' family, a short play called "Who Gets the Car Tonight" was given in January. This was followed by the comedy, "Elmer" with the following enacting roles: Elmer, Gerard Millette; Mother, Alice Roumas; Susan, Barbara Sullivan; Jeanie, Patricia Fortier; Janie, Betsy Jones; Russ, Ray Kennedy; Maid, Judy Finch; Miss Pinney, Carol Henshaw; Hubert, Bill Blodgett.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Student Government of Classical High School has completed a year of interested, worthwhile, and conscientious endeavor. The members have willingly given their time and effort to execute the will of the student body and to assist in conducting school activities.

The Student Government supervises class elections, student-controlled study halls, and the Bulldox P.X. Its members also aid in operating the Student Treasury, and so aid in the upkeep of certain types of school property. One very important duty of this organization is cooperating with Mr. Chatto, our principal, in making school policies. The French school, in Le Havre, adopted by Classical, brings Europe and her problems closer to Classical's students. The Student Government has charge of this project.

A new and important achievement of the Student Government this year has been the compilation of a handbook for freshmen and other students new to Classical.

The members of Student Government deeply appreciate the valued assistance and counsel of Mr. Lynch, our adviser.

STUDENT TREASURY

When John or Mary ask Pop for a loan of $4.00 in September for Student Treasury fees, how do they benefit from this active organization at Classical? The holders of S.T. tickets are permitted to attend school functions such as football and basketball games, plays, and an occasional dance at specially reduced prices. An S.T. membership exempts Classicalites from paying class dues permits a discount on the price of the Blue and White, and a three year membership entitles a senior to free admission to the banquet and prom.

PRO MERITO

Students attaining high scholastic standards are recognized by Pro Merito, the honor society of Classical High School. Students maintaining B plus averages receive the special privileges of this organization. These privileges include an extra set of books in all subjects, and an honor pass which allows them to leave their study halls at any time. Classical Pro Merito is divided into the junior and senior sections with each section having its own set of officers. Mr. Jeffrey is the adviser. Pro Merito, although in existence only three years, is recognized as one of the most worthwhile and important organizations in Classical.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

The main purpose of the Assembly Committee is to plan assemblies for the student body. Each week the students enjoy watching a program put on by some of our school organizations, or listening to an outside speaker. This year our most outstanding assemblies have been the plays put on by the Drama class, a physical education display on American judo, and a very interesting talk by Dr. Hill, our former principal.

The Assembly Committee is made up of representatives from every student organization in the school. The committee, with Richard Hirschhorn as chairman, has the able and gracious cooperation of Mr. Chatto and Miss Lucas, and several other faculty members.

IN SESSION

Interest in world affairs has reached an all-time high among Classical students. This fact is clearly brought out by the great increase of members in International Relations Club, a jump of from 50 last year to over 150 this year.

The best description of I.R.C. can be found in its motto, "World Citizens of Tomorrow." The purpose behind I.R.C. is to acquaint its members with the problems of today so that they will be well informed citizens of tomorrow. To gain information on world problems, the club holds debates, panel discussions, and has talks by guest speakers. Among the speakers heard this year at I.R.C. have been Dr. Isaac Klein, Mr. Richard Kolm, Mr. Hubert Kregoloh, Miss Sarah Pease, Rev. George Fischer, Captain Frank Kenny, Dr. James Gordon Gilkey, and others. I.R.C. also holds club memberships in the Foreign Policy Association. Among its activities of the year, the club sponsored a Care package to Europe, an assembly on the idea of a Dr. IQ show, and individual membership cards to its members in good standing.

I.R.C., which is the largest of Classical clubs, meets bi-monthly. It was founded by Miss Harriet Marr fifteen years ago, and has made great strides since that time. This year, through the combined efforts of the members themselves, the officers, and with a great deal of credit to Mr. Corbin, the adviser, International Relations Club has had the most successful year in its history.

THE SENATE

One of the more popular, larger, and older clubs of Classical High School is the Senate. The aggenda of each meeting is so diligently prepared that all the members anticipate every meeting with interest. The program of each meeting consists of sundry topics which vary at every bi-monthly meeting.

The Senate encourages members to practice parliamentary procedure, to obtain and use reference material for discussion or debate, to deliver a debate in a presentable form, and to express ideas intelligently and logically.

Every year the members of the faculty and student body anticipate the Senate Tablet Debate. The victor of this debate has his name engraved on a marble plaque. The other major event of the year is the American International Model Congress. The Senate sends four members to this Model Congress. The members are either placed in the House of Representatives or the Senate at this congress. During the days this assembly is in session, people go around hearing the various committees at work.

To the versatile Mr. E. E. Smith the Senate extends gratitude for the unlimited time which he gives as adviser.

PIERIDES

Hold it! Did you hear that rumble from room 227? Well, I did. Let's stick around and see what gives. Ow! No wonder so much noise. There is a room full of girls in there—no doubt discussing about the latest Paris creations, or the boys in their lives. But wait a minute! That girl! The one I'm pointing at! Listen to her. She's giving a discourse on the significance of the Balkan problems. And what is she doing! Who? Mary is critically analyzing Pope's "Criticism on Man." That cute blonde is talking to her friend about . . . NO! Ibsen's "Ghost." Now hold it. The young lady near the window is . . . NO! No they can't be the . . . Of course not! They never really existed! Why they, they, th . . . they are the Muses! You know, the gals who were connoisseurs on everything from nuts to bolts, and who inspired people on to greater achievements.

But wait. This is Classical High School. What in the world would the Muses be doing here? Please put me straight.

Oh, I see. These girls call this sewing circle the Pierides Club and they throw the ball around every other Monday to discuss world affairs, art, music, the dance, et cetera.

You say that some of their ideas are good! Then why is the world such a hectic scramble. Why don't their ideas solve the problems of the universe? Oh, I see. It isn't their fault that "Harry" doesn't consult them on our political aids, that Einstein forgets to ask them to solve an equation, that Shaw writes a play without first asking their opinions, and that Milton Berle never drops in to find out what is wrong with radio and television? Well, is it? Of course not. But does this discourage them? Not at all. Remember, they are the Pierides Girls.

SCIENCE CLUB

We were off. It was the entire Science Club packed into several cars. Morton Heafitz, the president, took the lead and the other three cars followed on closely. We soon reached our destination—the Westinghouse and were cordially welcomed by two guides who showed us through the factory. They explained very thoroughly but simply the assembly of the refrigerator parts as we very inquisitively looked on.

Morton Heafitz, Harvey Gruskin and David Whitesman listen to a Westinghouse Expert.

But more than the assembling of the refrigerator parts, our memories included the trips to the Vanilla Extract Company, Westover, and especially our Christmas party—ice-cream, cookies, cokes, and lots of fun.

The Science Club constituted those especially who were going to make science their career, but membership was open to all. However, we the members of the Science Club, were all bound together by our common interests in science, namely the betterment of the world in which we live.

STAMP CLUB

STAMP CLUB

Enjoying its second year at Classical High School, the stamp club has proved why philately is one of the favorite hobbies of America. The bi-monthly meetings are most meticulously prepared by Mrs. Rhoda Hall, our adviser. Each meeting is devoted to different topics in the stamp world. At all meetings members have the opportunity to witness shrewd trading and lively discussion. Also, all the stamp journals are circulated so that the new issues may become known and discussed. The main purpose of this club is to give Classical philatelists an opportunity to meet and discuss various topics related to stamp collecting which is the main purpose of this club.

HI - Y

If one were to pass the Y.M.C.A. on a Wednesday night and if he saw a group of young men conversing in a serious mood, he would be sure that this was the Classical Hi-Y. Under the direction of Mr. Amerman, this club has lately become a very popular organization of the boys at Classical. The topics discussed at meetings differ from the conditions of society to sports in general. The annual Hi-Y assembly has become so popular that it is eagerly awaited by the faculty and student body. The highlights of this year were the Annual Dance, which was a great success, and the Boys' Conference of New England. We were all pleased this year by this convention, for William Hobbs, our club president, was elected president of this group for the year 1950. The purpose of this club is two-fold. It gives the boys the chance to meet and to be acquainted with each other, and to uphold all Christian morals and conceptions and to make more secure their common link, their Christian heritage.

Y - TEENS

The Y-Teens teach girls unity and independence while guiding them through a course of friendship. This organization is one of millions of such groups of girls all over the world belonging to the Y.W.C.A. The fun and enjoyment which is gained in such a club explains why these girls belong.

RED CROSS

The Classical council of the Junior Red Cross enjoyed another year of useful existence in the 1949-50 period. The slate of officers for the council remained unchanged from the previous year, with the exception of Patricia Fortier and Eli Warsaw, who became secretary and intercity council delegate respectively. The year's work was highlighted by the appointment of Miss Harriet Hewitt as faculty adviser. Plans were immediately formulated by the Council for the sending of another school gift box to Europe. The year's project was off to a flying start with a talent show assembly which was held on October 14. Plans for the year also included another basketball dance. This year Classical took the lead in the intercity council work, and Eli Warsaw of the Classical Council was elected to fill the newly created post of High School Director here. This comparatively young Classical organization is looking forward to many years of useful service to others.

FIELD HOCKEY

"Drive that ball. Forwards, stay on a line." These were some of the suggestions heard as Miss Hollister coached Classical to another city championship in field hockey. More than sixty girls showed up for practice at Forest Park every Tuesday and Thursday from September to November. The results of this constant practice showed up in their first interschool game. There, the Classical upperclassmen demonstrated their superiority by defeating a combined Tech-Commerce team 1–0. Not to be outdone by the upperclassmen, the Classical freshies held the more experienced Tech-Commerce second team to a 0–0 score.

In an attempt to avenge themselves for these defeats, Commerce challenged Classical to a return match. The "Classigals" upset their hopes of victory by defeating them 3–1 to become city champs again this year.

TENNIS

Tennis this fall took the form of an exciting tournament, with Janet Kellgren emerging as champ. In the spring, tennis resumed with indoor practice, particularly for the beginners. As soon as the courts opened, the "Classigals" took their racquets and balls to Forest Park, where they played every Tuesday and Thursday.

BASKETBALL

"Classical girls, city champs in basketball." This now familiar phrase was heard again this year as the "Classigals" had another undefeated season. From December through April the "Freshies" practiced on Tuesday while the upperclassmen brought the balls out on Thursdays. In their only interschool competition, the upperclassmen defeated Commerce by a score of 23–12. Bev Keene with 11 points and Nancy Cooke and Terry Rabitaille with 6 points each did all of Classical's scoring. The tight zone guarding of Mildred Johnson, Cynthia Leonard, Rosemary Ross, and Gladys Walling kept the Commerce forwards from scoring with any consistency. On the same day the Classical freshmen defeated the Commerce "Freshies" 32–24. Carrie Adams and Judy Streeter were high scorers for the game. Although it wasn't possible to schedule a game with Tech, Classical can still claim the city title since Commerce handed Tech a sound beating in their game. Much of the credit for the success of the Classical girls should go to their coach, Miss Hollister.

In the interclass tournament the "Plaids" went through another undefeated season to retain their title of champs. In capturing this title, the "Plaids" amassed a total of 237 points to their opponents 26 in five games and won their last game by a default.

From February to April the gym was filled with enthusiastic badminton players. Under the direction of Mrs. Dayton, the girls learned how to score and play the game. When the beginners had mastered the fundamentals of the game, a doubles tournament was begun. In an exciting finish, Beverly Keene and Lucille Archibald defeated last year's champs, Janet Kallgren and Gladys Walling, to take the title.

BOWLING

"Look, I got a strike!" This phrase was heard often from November to March as the "Classigals" bowled 'em down at the Bickford and Apremont Alleys. After bowling for four months, about sixty of the girls met at Bickford's for the interclass tournament. There the Juniors demonstrated their bowling ability by topping both the Seniors and the Freshmen in total pinfall to annex the title "School Champs". High single and double strings for the tournament were turned in by Gladys Walling and Mildred Johnson, both Seniors.

In the interschool bowling tournament, Classical came in second, losing to Commerce by seventy-seven pins. An interesting feature of this match was the fact that Classical took high team single string, high single string, and high three strings, but failed to win the tournament! Mildred Johnson with high single string and Sue Rich with high three string were the Classical aces who turned in these performances.

SOFT BALL

Despite some disappointments, softball was on the whole a successful venture for the Classigals. Practice was held at Forest Park every Monday and Wednesday in the spring under the direction of Mrs. Gaylord. Teams were made up every day and the more advanced players conducted their own games while Mrs. Gaylord coached the beginners. After several days of practice the Classigals met Tech in their first interschool game. This game was little more than a warm-up for the Classical team as they defeated Tech by a 24–2 score. Classical's continued scoring slowed the game so much that it had to be called after five innings, otherwise the score might have been even greater. The game with Commerce was nothing like this. The Classigals, who must have used up all their good play in the Tech game, lost by a score of 6–26. This year Classical is going to try to make both scores sound like the score of the Tech game.

How do you break a front head hold? You don't know the answer? Well neither did the Classigals at the beginning of their senior lifesaving course at the Trinity pool. Under the direction of Mr. Eugene Wessells, the girls learned the answers to these and many other questions. This course which is open only to senior girls is offered from December to May. Before beginning their life saving lessons, the girls brushed up on all their swimming strokes. Then they turned to the work of approaches, carries, and breaks. The course concluded with a test in the water on the many requirements mastered.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The 1949-50 season was a full one for the G.A.A. The fun started on October 20 with Freshie Day, when the girls of the class of "52" sported a becoming [?] array of knee length skirts, ankle socks and knee socks, a backwards blouse, six pigtails on half their hair, a necklace of pins, and a shopping bag for books. On the night of the twentieth, the gyms were bright with colorful "Americana" costumes at the initiation party. Everyone enjoyed the games, singing, square dancing, and skit which made the evening an exciting one.

On February 10, the Classigals and their escorts promenaded to the music and calls of Frank Hartsoe and His Melodie Mountaineers at the "Barnyard Swing," the annual G.A.A. square dance.

The next big event was playday. Each year one high school plays host to the other three schools for a day of sports and fun when teams are formed irrespective of schools. This year's host, Classical, gave the teams college names. Included were Dartmouth, Army, Navy, Princeton, Yale, Brown, Harvard, and Holy Cross. After a day of basketball, volleyball, and badminton, prizes were awarded to the winning teams. Holy Cross won both the basketball and the volleyball tournaments, with Navy the runner-up in both. The badminton tournament was won by Dartmouth.

At the end of the year letters, numerals, athletic charms, and honor pins were given out to participants and winners of tournaments. A new pin was devised this year for the honor pin winners. These are the people who have obtained at least 30 G.A.A. points every year for three years and who have had no failing marks on their report cards.

The last event of the year was the G.A.A. picnic in June.

LOOKING BACK

The year 1949-50 proved to be a better than average year for Classical teams. With few exceptions the Bulldogs more than held their own against the toughest competition Western Massachusetts high schools had to offer. In the two fall sports, soccer and football, there was a marked deficiency in the point getting department. Neither team could produce a consistent scoring threat and this deficiency was not entirely offset by fine defensive play. As it was, the football team lost three of its four games by six or less points. One notable achievement of the football team was the 13–7 defeat it handed previously undefeated Ludlow High, the Class B Champions. In the big game of the season Tech squeaked past the hard-fighting Bulldog Eleven by the narrow margin of 6–2. It was a heart-breaking loss after such a hard struggle.

Basketball proved to be the biggest sport attraction as large numbers of enthusiastic rooters crowded the Field House to watch the home games. Unfortunately, erratic shooting and teamwork caused the potentially fine team to lose several important games and thereby lose out on the city championship and invitation for the Western Massachusetts Tournament. However, the team did get an invitation to the Assumption College Tournament at Worcester where they finished as runner-up. The overall record for the year was 14–5.

The hockey team in its fledgling year played an excellent brand of hockey to go undefeated until the last game of the season when West Springfield shut them out 2–0 to take Western Massachusetts honors. However victories over Tech and Trade gave Classical the City Championship. With the nucleus of a fine team remaining Classical should have another championship team next season.

The 1949 spring athletic teams were not for the most part outstanding. The standout achievement of the spring campaign was the copping of the Western Massachusetts title by the undefeated tennis team. In all its games the team had only two points scored against it for a truly commendable record.

Such are the results of Classical's participation in high school athletics. Still, it is difficult to evaluate the teams and players by records and cold statistics. These do not begin to describe what a team does or what it means to a player. The true picture of a team can never be put in the record book; the hard work and sacrifices; the hopes, and sometimes heartbreaks; and most of all, the companionship. These are the true results of a team. Unfortunately, we of the Blue and White must deal only with the superficial results of the athletic season. While we put in the book only pictures and records we feel confident that the true results of the teams are cherished forever in the hearts of those who were on them.

The track team completed a successful season with a highly creditable 4 and 1 record. After losing the initial meet to Wilbraham Academy the squad bounced back to defeat Monson Academy, West Springfield, Trade, Westfield, and place second in the Springfield Inter-School Meet. The squad also placed third in the Western Massachusetts Meet to round out the successful schedule.

1948-49 BASEBALL TEAM

Classical's baseball team finished the season with an unimpressive 6 and 6 record. The season may be summed up in four words, "too much" and "too little." One day the team would look very good burying a hapless opponent while the next would find Classical totally lacking any of the day before's punch. For the most part, weak hitting and poorer fielding made the team's showing unworthy of the players it was made up of. Team spirit was noticeably lacking especially after Stitchy Brock's quitting due to an injury. In fairness, it must be said that the student body gave very little support.

Standout performances were Ralph Clark's pitching and Jerry Guthrie's stickwork. "Stitchy" Brock, Bob Cignoli, Fred Keith, and "Buzzy" Wagner were several other players turning in creditable performances.

Classical's fine tennis team pointed the way to some of the other sports by annexing the Western Massachusetts Championship. Such fine playing merits well deserved praise to Captain Ronald Lee, Warren Fuller, Arthur Seaver, Dick Prothero, and Coach Henry Batt.

FOOTBALL GAMES

BRATTLEBORO — Although they dominated the play most of the game, the Bulldogs dropped their opening game by 1 point. Angelo Barbieri and Dick Stimets scored in a losing cause.

CHICOPEE — Classical put up a scrappy fight against a much bigger Chicopee eleven. The Bulldogs were forced to play most of the game in their own territory with only a few threats to the Chicopee goal line.

WARE — Classical at last got into the win column by outlasting Ware in a game that featured a lot of action but little scoring. Bob Spears and "Skippy" Gorham combined to lead the running attack, Skippy scoring the lone touchdown. A superior and much improved Classical line dominated the play.

FOOTBALL GAMES

ARMS ACADEMY — Bulldog backs had a field day as they ran roughshod over a definitely outclassed but very scrappy opponent. Jerry Harper scored twice and Lee Quimby, "Rusty" Brown, Don Hallett, and Bob Maier added one touchdown each.

AMHERST — The Bulldogs swamped Amherst High for their third straight win. Lee Quimby and Jerry "Power in the Backfield" Harper each scored twice and Dick Stimets once. Linemen Ed Dragon and Wayne Habel bottled up Amherst's highly touted 250 pound plus center.

SOUTH HADLEY — Bob Spears personally accounted for all 3 Bulldog touchdows as Angelo Barbieri unlimbered his arm to toss some fine passes to Bob. Much improved line play forced South Hadley to take to the air to gain yardage.

Is that Henry praying in the Tech game?

TRADE — An underestimated and fighting Trade team broke the Classical victory streak at 4 games. The Bulldogs threatened most of the game but Trade rose to every threat.

PALMER — In their only arc-light game Classical downed Palmer with some fine running and jolting blocking. Dick Stimets and Lee Quimby each scored 6 pointers.

BOB DUFAULT NABS A PASS.

TECH — The Bulldogs gave everything they could but just couldn't beat their arch rival, Tech. They stormed from one end of the field to the other, but Tech held close to the goal line on every occasion. The Blue and White's only score came in the fourth period when Dick Stimets punted the ball out on the Tech one foot line. Two plays later Fred Keith broke through the Tech line and dumped the ball carrier for a safety.

LUDLOW — The Bulldogs vented their rage over the Tech defeat by ruining an undefeated season for Ludlow, the Class B champions. The game featured the Classical line which opened gaping holes in Ludlow territory. Ludlow's highly touted backs were pummeled every time they tried to come through or around the Classical line and early in the game Ludlow was forced to depend on an erratic passing attack. Dick Stimets scored in the first period and Angelo Barbieri tallied on a quarterback sneak in the third period, and although Classical piled up a great deal of yardage they were unable to score again.

SOCCER

SOCCER TEAM 1950

Even though the Soccer Team ended the season with a poor record of one win, five ties, and six losses, they came close to having a good season. The defensive work displayed was some of the best in this area, but a good scoring punch was sorely needed. An indication of Classical's defensive strength was apparent especially in the Ludlow game when highly favored Ludlow High was held scoreless for three periods before they were able to make a point. Despite their record Classical finished third in the city league and received an invitation to the Western Massachusetts Tournament. There they were unfortunate enough to draw a strong Hopkins Academy squad as opponents in the opening round and lose by a 2–0 score.

In competition with other city schools Classical won 5 and lost 3 to end up in a tie for second place with Cathedral. Although Classical's record was not good enough for an invitation to the Western Massachusetts Tournament, a bid was received to the Assumption College Tournament in Worcester. Classical easily took its two opening games only to lose out in the finals to St. Peter's High of Worcester.

ASSUMPTION TOURNAMENT

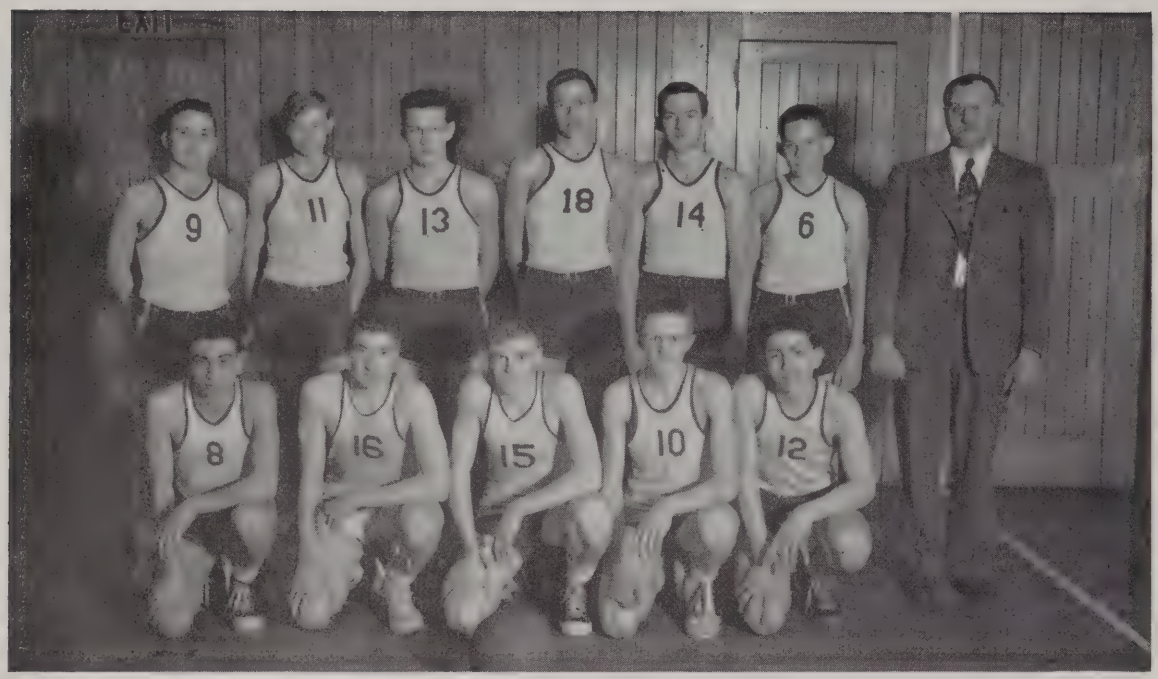

GARDNER — The aroused Bulldogs got off to a good start in the Assumption Tournament, whipping Gardner High 59–39. In a fine display of team scoring strength 4 Bulldogs got 8 or more points: "Hoch" 16; Palmer 14; Anzalotti 9; Clark 8. Classical's work off the backboards decided the course of the game.

NORTHAMPTON — Classical advanced to the finals by defeating Coach Buckley's hen-pecked Northampton charges 48–40. A late Northampton rally makes the game seem closer than it actually was. The Bulldogs led by nearly 30 points for most of the game. Ronnie Clark got 14 points, "Hoch" 11, and Henry Ochrymowicz 11.

ST. PETER'S — This important game proved no exception to the fact that the team tightened up all season long in important games. Not until late in the first half did Classical loosen up enough to begin to overcome a large lead piled up by St. Peter's. However, it was too little and too late. Ronnie Clark's work on both boards and Doug Jenkins' work on defense brought them the honor of placing on the All Tourney Team. Classical was the only school in the entire Tournament to place 2 men on the star five. One sparkling performance overlooked by many was that of Henry Ochrymowicz. Henry came into both the Northampton and St. Peter's games in the second half and scored eleven points each time.

You should have seen me!

Classical's ski enthusiasts went on several trips to Sid Burr's Black Panther Ski Tow during the winter. Although an early scarcity of snow hampered their activities, the various people involved finally got enough snow after Christmas to make taking the ski bus worthwhile.

Although no serious injuries were reported, numerous accidents inflicted either amusement or embarassment to those concerned.

On the way down!

CLASSICAL 1949-1950 HOCKEY TEAM

For the first year since the war Classical entered a hockey team in Western Massachusetts competition. Coached by Henry Batt, the team quickly played into shape much to the expense of opposing schools. Unfortunately, Classical lost the Western Massachusetts championship in its last game, being nosed out by West Springfield High by a 2–0 score.

1950 SWIMMING TEAM

The Swimming Team ended up the season with an undistinguished 2–4 record in regular competition. However, the team placed second in city, third in the Western Massachusetts meet, and twelfth out of 36 schools entered in the New England meet. Although the Classical team strength as a whole was somewhat shallow from lack of sufficient material, there were several members of the team that placed high among the best swimmers in New England.
